Learn about nature apps that can help you explore forest and prairie habitats

GENEVA, IL — Take your enjoyment of nature to another level with this interactive exploration of smartphone nature apps.

These amazing tools are available to anyone with a smartphone and can enable you to identify any number of plants, birds and other natural organisms while on the trail. We'll put these apps to the test in real time as we explore forest and prairie habitats.

“Trailside Nature Smartphone Apps” program is on Sunday, Feb. 21, from 9:30-10:30 a.m. at LeRoy Oakes Forest Preserve. Please bring a smartphone with the ability to download and install apps.

This program is for ages 10 and above. Masks are required at all programs and group sizes will be limited. Advance registration is required. Call 630-444-3190 or email programs@kaneforest.com to register for this free program.

LeRoy Oakes Forest Preserve is located at 37W700 Dean St., St. Charles.
